

twemojis v2.0-alpha (twemoji v14.0.2)

Jost Rossel

September 23, 2025

Abstract

Simple wrapper which allows to use Twitter's open source emojis through L^AT_EX commands. This works on images, so no fancy unicode-font stuff is needed and it should work[™] on every (PDF-capable) L^AT_EX installation.

1 Available Commands

\twemoji basically includes a PDF graphic of the emoji via \includegraphics. Per default \includegraphics is given the parameter height=\twemojiDefaultHeight, where \twemojiDefaultHeight is set to \fontcharht\font`X (i.e. the height of the letter X). \twemoji{smile} with default settings looks like this: ☺.

Use \setlength{\twemojiDefaultHeight}{...} to change the default height, this effects all \twemoji usages. For example, with the height set to 0.6em \twemoji{smile} looks like this: ☺

The look of a single emoji can be changed via an optional parameter (everything \includegraphics allows works). Example ☺: \twemoji[height=\defaultHeight, angle=45, trim={1mm 1mm 1mm 1mm}, clip]{smile}.¹

\twemoji works perfectly fine in a Tikz picture:

The “Alice” twemoji node in the example above is created with

\node[scale=7,inner sep=0pt] (a) at (0,0)
{\twemoji{woman technologist: medium-light skin tone}};

\texttt{twemoji} adapts itself to the text height (\twemoji does not). Hence, \texttt{texttwemoji}{smile} looks like ☺, but {\Large\texttt{texttwemoji}{smile}} looks like ☺. It does not take optional parameters.

¹\defaultHeight needs to be explicitly set, as the usage of the optional parameter overwrites the default one.

2 Finding Emoji Names

There are three ways to get the emoji you want. If you use a string—as a parameter for either command—that does not match any defined one, the command will be ignored.

1. The unicode value

- in hexadecimal,
- with small letters,
- and without leading zeros.

If the emojis use combined values (e.g., for skin color) separate them via -.

The value can be found, for example, here (not every unicode character is supported, only those you typically find on an “Emoji Keyboard”).

2. The official unicode CLDR names of the emoji. These can also be found here or here.
3. The easiest names to remember (used by Signal, WhatsApp, Discord, etc) like :smile: can also be used, but only support a subset (e.g. no variations like skin colors). These can be found, for example, here (without the :).

All available emojis and their aliases are listed at the end of this document.

Examples.

💃 \twemoji{1f483}
💃 \twemoji{woman dancing}
😊 \twemoji{1f604}
😊 \twemoji{grinning face with smiling eyes}
😊 \twemoji{smile}
👨 \twemoji{1f487-1f3fb-200d-2642-fe0f}
👨 \twemoji{man getting haircut: light skin tone}
😈 \twemoji{1f608}
😈 \twemoji{smiling face with horns}
😈 \twemoji{smiling_imp}

3 Licenses

3.1 Emojis

The emojis and all derived graphics belong to Twitter, Inc and other contributors (Copyright 2019). They are licensed under CC-BY 4.0: <https://creativecommons.org/licenses/by/4.0/>.

Hence, attribution of the original work is needed.

Attribution. I'm no lawyer, so take this section with a grain of salt.

As the emojis themselves are licensed under CC-BY they require attribution but are open to be distributed and modified anyway you like (which makes these packages possible). I'm not sure whether the attribution in the package's source code and in this repository is enough for a file (e.g. PDF) generated with this package to be covered as well (doubt it, really).

So, I see two different possibilities to attribute the emojis in a compiled document:

1. Add attribution to the metadata of the document. For example with <https://www.ctan.org/pkg/hyperxmp> in PDF files.
2. Add attribution in the document directly (e.g. on the last page of a presentation). For example:

Emoji graphics licensed under CC-BY 4.0: <https://creativecommons.org/licenses/by/4.0/> Copyright 2019 Twitter, Inc and other contributors

I consider this option to be the safest.

3.2 LaTeX Package

The LaTeX packages are licensed under the LPPL 1.3 or later License.

Copyright (c) 2021–2022 Jost Rossel

This file may be distributed and/or modified under the conditions of the LaTeX Project Public License, either version 1.3 of this license or (at your option) any later version. The latest version of this license is in:

<http://www.latex-project.org/lppl.txt>

and version 1.3 or later is part of all distributions of LaTeX version 2005/12/01 or later.

5 Implementation

\twemojiDefaultHeight Defines the length `twemojiDefaultHeight` as the height of the character “X”. To change the length in the document use, e.g., `\setlength{\twemojiDefaultHeight}{2em}`.

1 \newlength{\twemojiDefaultHeight}
2 \AtBeginDocument{\setlength{\twemojiDefaultHeight}{\fontcharht\font`X}}

PDF Group Warning As the emojis are PDF-based and use transparency, they include groups. I was not able to change the inkscape export so that that does not happen. Hence, pdflatex throws a warning about multiple groups on one PDF page. This package disables said warning: `\pdfsuppresswarningpagegroup=1` as it is of no concern for the inputted emojis. It could happen, that a PDF you input is faulty and you don't notice due to said suppression. You can enable the warning with `\pdfsuppresswarningpagegroup=0`.

3 \begingroup\expandafter\expandafter\expandafter\endgroup
4 \expandafter\ifx\csname pdfsuppresswarningpagegroup\endcsname\relax
5 \else
6   \pdfsuppresswarningpagegroup=1\relax
7 \fi

\twemoji Includes the given twemoji as an image in place.

8 \newcommand{\twemoji}[2][height=\twemojiDefaultHeight]{%
9   \ifcsname twemoji #2\endcsname%
10    \csname twemoji #2\endcsname{#1}%
11  \else%
12    \PackageError{twemojis}%
13      {Undefined emoji '#2'}%
14      {See section 2 (''Finding Emoji Names'') of the twemojis package%
15       documentation, for ways to get the emoji you want.}%
16  \fi%

\texttwemoji Uses the \twemoji command so that it adapts to the fontsize.

18 \newcommand{\texttwemoji}[1]{%
19   \raisebox{-.1ex}{\twemoji[height=1.1\fontcharht\font`X]{#1}}%

\defineTwemoji Defines an internal \twemoji ... command that holds the reference to the actual image. Needs the page number and alias under which to find it.

21 \newcommand{\defineTwemoji}[2]{%
22 \expandafter\newcommand\csname twemoji #2\endcsname[1]{%
23   \includegraphics[page=#1, ##1]{all-twemojis.pdf}}%
24 }%
